

Premium Seating NFL Pick-Em Challenge

Rules & Regulations

Welcome to the Premium Seating NFL Pick-Em Challenge, a weekly NFL game that allows you to pick the winner of each game of the NFL regular season. This challenge is exclusively for Premium Seating Season Ticket Members of the Denver Broncos.

The pool will be hosted on the following website:

<https://broncosclub.pooltracker.com/pickem/>

The Basics

Each participant will need to register on the pool website. Only one entry will be allowed per each Premium Seat account (account number will be required as part of your registration). No contact information entered as part of the registration will be shared with any 3rd party service for the purpose of solicitations or marketing. Please feel free to contact your Premium Seat Service Representative if you need your account number for registration. Each week, participants will receive an email reminder to make their picks before the start of the first game of that week. Each participant will pick the winner of each game for that week while simultaneously assigning confidence points to that pick.

What are confidence points?

Confidence points are used to assign a different weight to each game picked in a given week. You will assign a point value from 1 to 16 for weeks with 16 games, 3-16 for weeks with 14 games, and 4-16 for weeks with 13 games, etc. These point values are based on risk – the higher the number of points you assign to a game, the more confident you should be that the team you picked will win. Conversely, if you are not that confident in your selection, you should assign a low confidence point value to that game.

For each correct pick, you will receive the confidence point value assigned to that game. Incorrect picks or picks that do not have a confidence point value assigned will receive zero (0) points for that game.

Each confidence point value may only be used once per week. During a 16-game week, after you have assigned 16 points to a particular game, your next highest available value is 15 points and so on.

Example: If you pick Denver to beat Las Vegas and assign the game a confidence point value of 12, you would earn 12 points for a correct pick, but no points if Las Vegas wins. You do not lose points for an incorrect selection.

Confidence points will be totaled each week and all participants will be able to view the Leaderboard on the pool website to track weekly and overall leaders. The goal is not only to predict the most winners possible, but more importantly, to assign the proper confidence point values to each game.

Prizes

Prizes will be awarded both to the top weekly winner and the top 3 Premium Seat owners that accumulate the most total confidence points over the course of the NFL regular season.

Deadlines

All weekly selections must be submitted prior to the game's kickoff on that date.

Tiebreakers

To break any ties to determine weekly winners, each participant will have to predict the TOTAL amount of points that will be scored in the Monday Night Football game for that week and have the earliest submission of all tied players. The participant closest to the combine score in the Monday Night Football game and with the earliest pick submission time will win the tiebreaker and be awarded the weekly prize.

Example: If you believe the team A will beat team B 27-10 on Monday Night Football, your combined score guess would be 37.

We thank you for your participation and for your continued support. We look forward to sharing another exciting season of Denver Broncos football with you!